Accomplished Business Executive, Joe Brennan Joins Banister International

Banister International continues to strengthen its Executive Search capabilities with the addition of Joe Brennan. Joe brings executive experience in diversified manufacturing, technology commercialization, full product life cycle, strategic business planning, and global sales management to the firm.

His skills complement our ability to identify, retain and present key clients with the best talent available, thus helping them strengthen and grow their already successful business model.

“We’re thrilled to have Joe join us as Partner in our Executive Search practice”, said Patrick Sylvester, Banister’s CEO. “Joe’s 30 years of experience in Healthcare, Technology, Industrial and Consumer Product verticals, and his record of working closely with Fortune 1000 executive clients, gives Banister more expertise and network bandwidth.” “I couldn’t be more excited about our potential to help clients grow their businesses”, said Joe. “Our Private Equity Practice is most interesting to me. We solve talent problems by providing Portfolio Companies with the talent and leadership necessary to positively affect the PE firm’s return on investment”.

Banister International provides executive advisory services in search & recruitment, career management, and corporate leadership transformation partnering with progressive companies and talented professionals to deliver optimum results.
